

PUB TALK

Our younger members and friends are invited to a “Pub Talk” with Rob Kugler, Professor of Christian Studies at Lewis and Clark College, at 7:30 pm on Thursday, January 12, at the Lucky Labrador, 915 SE Hawthorne.

“What good is the Bible, anymore?” Christians, let alone non-believers, read it less and less, and some find it irrelevant to their lives today. For all the talk in public about the Bible, surveys show that there is far less reading of it in private.

In this conversation we’ll engage the question posed above. We’ll hear from some believers who still find the Bible worth the read, from a scholar who thinks it’s an overlooked classic, and from those who think it pointless. The conversation will be about hearing views and sharing perspectives – an occasion for everyone to learn from one another.
