

Slow Food®

Over the past few months, the Slow Food discussion group has been meeting to discuss sustainable food choices and the role of food in creating community. To put it simply, Slow Food represents the exact opposite of everything involved with fast food. As we've evolved, we have seen ideas and interest grow, and we have initiated a community gardening project located in the yard of Mr. Riley's House, just to the south of First Immanuel. We are currently tending this garden to grow vegetables to share in the local neighborhood community.
